- Implementing excellent teaching practice, as described in the Australian Professional Standards for Teachers, including classes, supervision and other duties as allocated from time to time.
- Utilising the Inaburra Learning Design framework to design, deliver and evaluate student learning.
- Differentiating learning and assessment to meet the needs of individual students according to the Inaburra Learning Enrichment Framework.
- Assessing and reporting on student learning, with an emphasis on assessment as, of and for learning.
- Reflecting on and contributing to the ongoing development of the team programs, pedagogy and curriculum.

General Responsibilities of Teaching Staff:

The general responsibilities of teaching staff at Inaburra School include:

- Committing to ongoing professional improvement and learning, as evidenced by documenting relevant requirements relating to the NESA Teacher Accreditation processes, participating in scheduled professional learning days and meetings, taking responsibility for the development of professional practice, and collaborating with colleagues in the pursuit of excellence in education.
- Participating in the School's pastoral care of students, which may include oversight of the wellbeing and progress of a designated home group, attendance on overnight camps and preparation of pastoral reports.
- Communicating clearly and professionally with parents through reports, parent/teacher evenings and throughout the year as appropriate, necessary or requested.
- Complying with all relevant school policies, procedures and guidelines, including the maintenance of first aid training.
- Conducting oneself in a manner consistent with an active Christian faith.
- Undertaking and completing any other additional tasks that may be reasonably requested by the Principal from time to time.

Excellent Performance for Inaburra Teachers looks like:

- A wholehearted commitment to, and embodiment of, the School mission, values and goals.
- A demonstrable priority on conducting relationships within the school community well, consistent with our Christian culture and convictions.
- A thorough knowledge of, and interest in, the strengths, needs, story and wellbeing of the students in your care.
- A strong and improving mastery of pedagogy, course content and subject-area knowledge.
- The thoughtful design, and evidence-informed implementation, of teaching and learning activities and experiences.
- An unyielding focus on strong learning outcomes for all students, commensurate with their ability.
- A generous, positive and dependable collaboration in the shared tasks of preparing, assessing and improving teaching and learning.
- Enthusiastic participation in, and contribution to, professional learning as a means of improving professional practice and knowledge, setting and achieving professional learning goals.
