Farm of the Future - Royal Easter Show

12 to 23 April. 9.30am – 6.30pm

Today's farmers need to know how to blend cutting edge technology with the best of nature, and that's where the Farm of the Future can help. The integration of technology with people and ecosystems is laid bare for all to discover. See how birds and bats benefit farmers with pollination, seed dispersal and pest control. Get your hands muddy digging around and conducting soil tests. Feel live cotton and learn about water through the ages - we simply can't live without it. Microscopes and magnifying glasses will help you look a little closer, whilst drones, sensors and satellites will help you see further afield. It's a hands-on look at farming for today and the next generation.
